

SERVICE BRIEF

Project Management Office (PMO) Services

Increase your impact and results with expert PMO services to help steer every project into the successful outcomes you need.

Get priority projects on track while improving decision making, alignment and results.

Staying competitive and relevant in today's high-stakes market environment means businesses need the ability to respond quickly and efficiently to dynamic market and customer demands. That ability requires new levels of efficiency and innovation that can be difficult to coordinate between the business and IT, and in many cases, projects designed to advance those goals begin to pile up. Such a backlog creates mounting pressure and negatively impacts results amidst the mire of overlapping projects, competing priorities and organizational complexities.

Creating a well-defined PMO function requires aligning business objectives with IT priorities, and steering both towards common goals that advance the bigger picture objectives. Yet not every business has the in-house expertise needed to ensure projects are effectively prioritized, controlled and managed in order to achieve the desired outcomes. Expert PMO services can positively transform your project success rates, cost structure, process governance, delivery confidence, and ultimately, business impact.

Mature PMO is the backbone of consistently successful on-time, on-budget project delivery.

cStor's expert PMO team can help advance your project management and delivery capabilities with full project life-cycle support through any type of implementation, migration or other project with our team—or by guiding your internal project managers on process, communication and governance best practices for any type of project they are managing.

A PMO can be one of the most vital assets any company can have. PMOs offer project selection and prioritization techniques, project management guidance and oversight, control and support that improves project quality, reduces cost and permits timely, confident decision making. Implemented correctly, PMOs demonstrate value and can be measured quantitatively through quality, timeliness and cost.

Mid- and senior-level PMO managers help improve project on-time and on-budget delivery and success rates using proven strategies and tactics for efficiently managing business and IT projects from beginning to end. Employing experienced PMO managers can deliver a 200 to 300% return on those resource investments.
